

THE BEHAVIOR ANALYST

VOL. 25, NO. 2

ISSN 0738-6729

FALL, 2002

CONTENTS

Poulson, C. L. In memoriam: Donald M. Baer (1931–2002): A man of intelligence, integrity, courtesy, and humor	129
Wesolowski, M. D. Pioneer profiles: An interview with Don Baer	135
Derenne, A., and Baron, A. Behavior analysis and the study of human aging	151
Faux, S. F. Cognitive neuroscience from a behavioral perspective: A critique of chasing ghosts with Geiger counters	161
Shahan, T. A., and Chase, P. N. Novelty, stimulus control, and operant variability	175
Delprato, D. J. Countercontrol in behavior analysis	191
Moxley, R. A. Some more similarities between Peirce and Skinner	201
Boyce, T. E., and Himeline, P. N. Inter-teaching: A strategy for enhancing the user-friendliness of behavioral arrangements in the college classroom	215

ON BOOKS

Lamal, P. A. Mixed bag: A review of Frans de Waal's The Ape and the Sushi Master: Cultural Reflections of a Primatologist	227
Morris, E. K. Not so disinterested or objectivist: John A. Mills' Control: A History of Behavioral Psychology	235

IN RESPONSE

Carr, J. E., and Sidener, T. M. On the relation between applied behavior analysis and positive behavioral support	245
Calkin, A. B. Inner behavior: Empirical investigations of private events	255

ANNOUNCEMENTS

(see inside front cover)

ASSOCIATION FOR BEHAVIOR ANALYSIS